SHOWS HERE FOR FESTIVAL

FALL CELEBRATION TO OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 28.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Brundage Shows To Be Here For One Week—Affair Sponsored by Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

The annual Fall Festival, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and endorsed by all the merchants will open in this city, Monday the 28th, for one solid week of fun. The S. W. Brundage Shows, a 25-car company traveling with their own train, one of the biggest and best in the country, will be one of the principal attractions.

Showing will be on the streets adjacent to the courthouse.

Six rides, including the "Big Eli" Ferris Wheel, Merry-go-round, the whip, the Caterpillar, and the Rocky Road to Dublin; a mechanical farm which took seven years to build, in operation; a water circus featuring a flock of diving nymphs in an aquatic exhibition with all the flavor of the seashore, including high divers, water clowns, fancy swimmers, and underwater feats, trained and educated domestic animals in a circus performance, bucking mules, prancing horses, dashing ponies, creating 100 novelties in a one-ring circus. These are but part of the many attractions that will offered.

The committee in charge is making arrangements for a number of aerial free acts to be given afternoon and evening where they can be seen and enjoyed by all.

The S. W. Brundage Shows have been on the road for twenty-six years. At the Burlington, Ia., fair they played five years in succession. At Beardstown, Ill., they have just completed their third showing under the auspices of the American Legion. At Mendota, Ill., they furnished all the amusement for the Elks summer frolic. This week they are for the second year, at the Elkhorn, Wis., county fair, said to be the biggest and best county fair in the world. Last year in spite of weather, which cost the Wisconsin State Fair a loss of over $100,000, the Brundage Company increased the gate receipts at Elkhorn by $10,000 more than they had ever received before. For three winters they made their headquarters at St. Joseph, and from everyone they have ever done business with receive the very best of references. They comply with the Pure Show Laws, which means they have nothing not entirely proper for women and children to see.

On the second day of the Fall Festival, County Agent J. Ross Fleetwood, will conduct the annual Baby Beef Show, for which prizes are being provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

In securing such attractions for this year's entertainment the committee feels that its long, and difficult negotiations are being crowned with the greatest possible success, for this will be the biggest and best Fall Festival ever held here. The mammouth crowds which will be in Maryville every day of the week of the Festival, will tax the capacity of the city in every way. An extensive publicity campaign will cover a radius of fifty miles around Maryville.

SIMPLE RITES FOR OFFICERS

SHENANDOAH DEAD REST IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY.

THRONG AT SERVICES

Caskets Are Piled High With Flowers —High Government Officials Are Present.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Four of the navy flyers who lost their lives on the ill-fated Shenandoah were buried with stately simplicity today in Arlington National Cemetery.

Their caskets were piled high with flowers and surrounded by hundreds of comrades and thousands of condoling civilians. The air men were laid to rest near the last resting places of the Maine dead.

Services for the three brother officers of Commander Landsdowne—Lieut.-Com. Louis Hancock, Lieut. J. B. Lawrence and Lieut. E. W. Sheppard—were held at 11 o'clock, followed at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon by separate services for the captain of the dirigible.

All four of the officers were married. Their widows attended the services, all striving to comfort each other. Secretary of Navy Wilbur, Acting Secretary of War Davis, high officials of both departments and members of the diplomatic corps of all nations attended the services, which were marked by unusual simplicity, there being no formal church services.

The bodies, carried in flag-draped coffins, were removed to the side of the graves from the receiving vault and there Capt. Evans Scott, head of the navy chaplains, read the funeral services.

A volley of gunfire marked the lowering into the graves of the officers, and this was followed by taps.

Commander Landsdowne's funeral was held at the chapel of Fort Meyer where the remains had been removed from the receiving vault several hours before the service. After the brief service, the casket was taken to the Dewey knoll in Arlington cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuehs and son Albert, drove to Seneca, Kan., this morning where they will visit with the former's sister, Mrs. Emma Enderlin.

K. C. Man Disappears From His Home

Wealthy Dealer in Interior Decorations Started With Large Sum of Money To Bank.

Kansas City, Sept. 8.—Samuel Vandewart, 65, well-to-do dealer in interior decorations, disappeared this morning on his way from his home to the bank with a large amount of money. Apocketbook with his name was found in a garbage can in the rear of a restaurant. The owner of the restaurant telephoned police. Police believe Vanderwart has been murdered. They point out that if he had been slugged he would have reported his loss when he regained consciousness, and that if he had been kidnapped the robbers would not have thrown the pocketbook away down town.

Mrs. M. L. Beattie and Mrs. A. B. Allen are spending the day in St. Joseph.

Given Life Term Once; He Doesn't Fear Court Now

"The last time I appeared before you, I was given a life sentence," Rosco Blazier told Judge Warren L. Johnson this morning when he was brought before the Judge charged with operating a motor vehicle while in intoxicated condition.

Judge Johnson pronounced the marriage ceremony for Blazier and his wife when they were united several years ago. Blazier did not enter a plea of guilty but waived preliminary hearing.

480 STUDENTS ARE ENROLLED

FIRST DAY OF REGISTRATION AT COLLEGE HERE.

MORE ARE EXPECTED

Indications Points To About Same Enrollment As Fall Last Year—Many New Students.

Four hundred and eighty students had enrolled for the fall term of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College up to 3 o'clock this afternoon. Today is the first day of enrollment and indications are that as many if not more students will attend the College this fall as last.

At the close of the first day last year, 545 students had enrolled.

These figures do not include the College Conservatory of Music for which registration is also being held today.

Many new students are enrolling this fall and a number of former students are returning to resume their work here.

The enrollment was considered good for the first day of registration. The first assembly will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. School proper will start at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

A new system of enrollment and classification has been started at the College and it is working very effective. The students' registration fee has been increased to $45 instead of $12.50, as was formerly charged. This deposit includes a cupon for tuition, locker key, subscription for the Green and White publication, a one third cost of the 1926 Tower book, a student's ticket to athletic events and an admittance ticket to one major and three minor entertainment programs sponsored by the College during the semester. The book deposit fee is extra.

The students instead of registering with their class sponsors are now assigned to the head of the department in which they are majoring. For instance, if the student is majoring in social sciences he is assigned to the head of this department to receive help in preparing the schedule.

The enrollment last year at 3 o'clock the first day was 445. The enrollment for the entire fall semester last year totaled over 620 students. This did not include those enrolled in the Conservatory of Music.

Think Liquor Fight Is Cause of Murder

Widely-Known W. C. T. U. Worker, Slain At Her Home, Had Waged War On Bootleggers.

Vinton, Ia., Sept. 8.—Years of war against the liquor traffic brought death to Mrs. C. B. Cook, widely known W. C. T. U. worker, was the belief of authorities today.

Mrs. Cook was shot last night as she sat sewing in the living room of her home, dying a few hours later. No clues to identify her slayer had been found today. It was reported today that Mrs. Cook had been warned that unless she cease her activities against the bootleggers, harm would come to her. Two months ago, her home was rotten-egged and it was at this time that she is said to have received a threat. Whether it was in the form of a note or verbal could not be ascertained.

It is the belief of the sheriff that Mrs. Cook was followed home from church by the murderer.

DEDICATION TO BE SEPT. 20

NOW MAKING PLANS FOR SERVICES AT CHURCH.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Two Meetings To Precede Dedicatory Program—Bishop E. L. Waldorf Will Be Here.

Committees were appointed last night to complete plans for the dedicatory services at the First M. E. Church on September 20.

Bishop E. L. Waldorf of Kansas City is to be the principal speaker of the day. The services will begin at 10:15 o'clock. Announcement of the services will be made at the various churches of the county Sunday.

Services will be held at the local church two evenings preceding dedication day, it was decided at the meeting last night. On the evening of September 16, an "open house" and "felicity meeting" will be held in order that friends of the church, including members of all other churches of the city, and all who are interested, may have the opportunity of being shown through the church building.

On the evening of September 18, a musical program will be given and an address will probably be given by some former pastor of the church. A committee composed of Dr. C. C. James, Mrs. J. W. Hake, Clun Price, and C. C. Leeson was appointed to arrange the program for this service. Mrs. Charles Gaugh, Mrs. Howard Wray and Mrs. W. O. Garrett will be the committee in charge of the "open house."

A history of the church from its beginning to the present time may also be published, it was decided at the meeting last night. A committee composed of Miss Emma Hull, E. F. Scott and Mrs. H. E. Wright will investigate the advisability of publishing this history.

The publicity committee, composed of Miss Emma Hull, E. F. Scott and Mrs. Guy Haller, was instructed to do all the necessary advertising of the dedicatory services.

At the dedicatory services a nursery to care for the babies and children will be provided and will be in charge of Miss Ruth Matter and Mrs. Virgil Hartness. It was also decided to extend the use of the basement of the church building to all out-of-town guests who might wish to bring their basket dinners in order to be able to attend the afternoon service. Guests will be welcome to use the tables in the basement but no dishes will be furnished.

The afternoon service will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

E. M. Houchens and Roland Wray were appointed to take charge of the secretarial work, and Clun Price was named to make arrangements to take Bishop Waldorf to Savannah.

No Change Yet In Bureau Personnel

Prohibition Director Says Policies Will Be Same As Those Outlined By Secretary Andrews.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—There will be no immediate changes in the personnel of the prohibition forces of the sixteenth district, L. H. Breur, newly appointed administrator, said when he took over the office here today.

Breur was appointed last week to succeed W. D. Moss, acting chief under the Andrews plan. Prior to that time, Breur was counsel for the Missouri Public Service Commission.

"My policies will be those outlined by Secretary Andrews," Breur added. "I believe public sentiment is one of the biggest factors in the enforcement of the prohibition law."

FREIGHT RATE HEARING IS ON

MID-WEST RAILROADS ASK FOR AN INCREASE.

HUGHES MAKES PLAN

Former Secretary of State Is Appearing For C. M. & St. Paul Receivers Has Pooling Proposal.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The long-simmering freight war cauldron was set boiling again here today when hearings began on the application of seventy-three western carriers for an increased rate schedule.

The hearings, which will last until September 16, are being presided over by Chairman C. N. Aitchison of the interstate commerce commission.

Entwined with the rate controversy is the Hoch Smith resolution passed by the last Congress instructing a general survey and study by the commission of the entire fabric of the rate structure. This resolution was designed to offer aid to the farmers in the way of lower freight rates on their output if it was found they were burdensome, even to the extent of adding to the rates on other industries by way of compensation. Shippers of the other commodities have informed the commission they are shouldering all the traffic will bear in the way of rates.

Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, will be the outstanding figure during the hearings. He is representing the receivers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad and will advocate a 5 per cent increase in the western district with a pooling plan whereby the receipts will be distributed among the western roads earning less than the 5¾ per cent, set by the commission as the minimum for the roads.

MITCHELL IN NEW ATTACK

URGES CONSOLIDATION UNDER ONE GENERAL HEAD.

EXPECT ACTION SOON

War Department Officials Get Ready for "Show Down" On Charges of Famous Military Leader.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 8.—Col. William Mitchell today issued a supplementary statement to his scathing denunciation of the handling of the war and navy departments of the national air program.

Lacking the fire of his first statement, Colonel Mitchell's second statement is a plea for separate air service and outlines his plans in part as follows:

"The terrible condition of our national air service is not so much the result of absolute ignorance of individuals, because often they are selected on the plan of saying:

"'Tag, you're it; now go play with aviation,' when they know nothing about it.

"The whole trouble is with this system and we flying people insist that our views be known and weighed by the American people.

"We should, I believe, consolidate our whole national defense under one head, and hold one man responsible for the whole thing. Under him should be three sub-secretaries; one for the army, or the land, the other for the navy, or the sea, and the other for aviation, or the air. We must apply a remedy to the conditions existing in our whole national defense system, and to aviation in particular."

Washington, Sept. 8.—The war department moved forward today to punish Col. William M. Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service for his slashing attack of Saturday on the conduct of the military air program by the war and navy departments.

After a conference with Dwight Davis, acting Secretary of War, who returned to Washington this morning, Maj.-Gen. John Hines, the chief of staff, formerly called on Major-General Helmick, inspector-general of the army, to investigate Mitchell's statement he issued to the press in San Antonio as a basis for action by the department.

There was little doubt among army officials in the war department that Mitchell would be court-martialed, as he predicted, but Secretary Davis was reluctant to discuss the issues involved pending the investigation now under way.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 8.—Col. William Mitchell returned to San Antonio today from a fishing trip on the Gulf.

His plane landed at Fort Sam Houston and he immediately climbed out of the cockpit and went to his quarters.

Up to the time Colonel Mitchell retired to his quarters after his return there was nothing to indicate that he was going to be taken into custody. He declined to say anything further, declaring that he had included all he had to say for the press in the statement released Saturday.

Noel Must Go To Trial for Slayings

Defense Must Make Move For Sanity Examination, Prosecutors Office Let It Be Known.

Newark, N. Y. Sept. 8.—Harrison Noel, former Harvard University student, will go on trial for the confessed slaying of Mary Daly, 6 years old, the child he kidnapped, and for the murder of Raymond Pierce, negro taxi driver, whose car Harrison stole, according to plans made today at a conference between J. Victor D'Aloria, acting county prosecutor, and James A. Mason, chief of county detectives.

No motion for a mental examination of Noel will be made by the Essex County prosecutor's office. If the youth is to be saved from the electric chair, the action will have to originate from the defense.

The Weather

Partly overcast, probably local thunderstorms in the northeast portion this afternoon or to-night; Wednesday generally fair; continued warm.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT.

Powers of investigation possessed by government agencies are again in question in a lower court, while a case involving the right of the Federal Trade Commission to require industries to report on production, costs, and the like remains undecided in the Supreme Court. When the Supreme Court hands down its decision in the Claire Furnace case, long pending before it, there may be more light on the general question.

The specific question now raised has been before a district federal court in Illinois for upwards of a year. It arose upon a demand made by the Secretary of Agriculture, under the Packers and Stockyards Act. The Secretary wanted to place auditors in the offices of packers to examine their books and records. This action he contended was permitted by the law which he administers, because that law purports to give to him, in the field of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the authority which the Federal Trade Commission Act confers upon the Commission "to have access to, for purposes of examination, and the right to copy, any documentary evidence of any corporation being investigated or proceeded against." This provision, it will be recalled, the Commission inherited from the old Bureau of Corporations.

The packers demurred. Thereupon, the Secretary of Agriculture went to court seeking an order establishing the right he asserted. In July, 1924, the court reached its first decision, that it could act in the matter, and this summer the court has held that the Secretary is right. This decision in the lower court will scarcely end the matter. The case will undoubtedly be carried to the higher courts, where the legal principles which are involved may receive some much needed elucidation.—Nation's Business Magazine.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—The present Senate is so evenly divided that the outcome of the Brookhart-Steck contest for one of the Iowa seats has a lot more importance than such a fight ordinarily has, and they always are pretty important.

Originally Brookhart was supposed to have won by a small majority. The Senate committee's recount, recently finished, wiped out this margin and more too, giving Steck a bigger advantage than Brookhart was thought to have had.

However, this is on the basis of uncontested ballots. There are enough contested ones either to increase Steck's lead or to throw victory Brookhart's way again, depending on how they're counted.

It will be up to the Senate, when Congress reconvenes, to decide about the contested votes. What it does decide will determine whether Smith W. Brookhart or Daniel F. Steck shall represent Iowa in the Upper House for the next six years.

A few commentators have been so unsophisticated as to suggest that it's a matter for the "intent" of the Iowans' ballots, not the Senate, to settle.

Ah, but the controversy has passed out of the Iowans' hands now and into the Senate's. Little enough the Iowans will have to say about it hereafter.

The Senate, then, will choose between Brookhart and Steck. Normally the Republicans would vote for the Republican candidate and the Democrats for the Democrat, but this contest is peculiar.

Nominally a Republican, Brookhart was so unmanageable in the last Congress that the regular Republicans would prefer the Democrat, Steck—unless Brookhart means to "be good" in the future.

Some say he does, if the Republicans will vote to seat him. Doubtless they will, assuming he's tamed. It wasn't because they liked Steck, it was because they hated Brookhart's insurgency, that there was any talk of Republican support for the former.

If this prohibition keeps on before long you will have to apologize for being sober.

Putting something by for a rainy day is all right, but now is the time to lay aside something for the cold days.

Perhaps the stingiest man alive refuses to look through his window for fear of wearing it out.

Saving is a fine habit. But be careful what you save. Don't try to save all your good deeds for the future.

Obey Not Vital For Happiness, Prelate Holds

Not Essential, Says Rt. Rev. C. L. Slattery, But Bishop Johnson Protests Removal.

Boston, Sept. 8.—"Love, honor and obey," are three great words of the marriage ceremony.

Should the word "obey" be dropped?

This question is being discussed in religious circles and social gatherings throughout the United States.

Rt. Rev. Charles L. Slattery, bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Massachusetts, says the word "obey" is not vital to happiness.

Rt. Rev. Irving Peake Johnson, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Colorado, voiced the first protest of a notable leader of the church against the elimination of the word "obey."

He says that a man was made the head of the family because it is his duty to provide and protect, and if woman assumes leadership the man loses a glory the woman does not gain.

Women Differ.

Greater Boston women, who have enjoyed a half a century or more of married life, differ somewhat from the opinion of Rt. Rev. Johnson.

In their opinion if married couples please each other the word "obey" will be complied with.

Mrs. James Yeames, wife of a well-known Arlington, Mass., clergyman, when interviewed on the subject said:

"I have studied this question carefully and I can honestly say that I see no reason for changing the wording of the ceremony and dropping the word 'obey.'

"After all, it is entirely up to both the husband and wife to make their married life what it is to be. I say both must please each other and if they do this the word "obey" will be fully complied with and their lives will be happy ones. I do not interpret that word as meaning to jump at all commands but rather I think it means to aid and help and please each other whenever posible."

The Rev. and Mrs. Yeams have been married sixty-seven years

In Favor of Obey.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dakin, of Holyoke, Mass., have also enjoyed sixty-seven years of married life.

"It is funny," laughed Mrs. Dakin, "the questions that are coming up today regarding religious customes older than the grandfathers of those who discuss them.

"I have been married sixty-seven years and I have tried to please my husband, and he in turn has pleased me. The ceremony of yesterday is just as good today as it ever was and I see no material gain in dropping the word 'obey' for the sake of a few who take marriage just as an experience.

"Let those who plan to be married start out pleasing each other and I feel sure that I am right when I say there will be no trouble."

"After all," said Mrs. P. T. Hendricks, of Arlington, who has been married 63 years, "the argument is over happiness of married life, which lies entirely within the parties concerned. If each starts out doing all that he or she can for the other, then there is bound to be happiness.

"The word 'obey' has been used for years, and whether they continue to use it or not I believe that the young folks who get married, if they are marrying for love, are bound to be happy, because they will start out pleasing each other. They will not give a thought to the presence of the word in the ceremony."

Mexico Opens World's Fair In November

Capital to Celebrate 600th Anniversary With A Royal Welcome to All Tourists.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—Tourists from the four corners of the earth and business men as well will help this capital celebrate its six-hundreth anniversary during November.

Emerging hopefully from upwards of twelve years of revolution, trade stagnation and sometime chaos a group of progressive young Mexicans have decided that the time has come to renew acquaintance with the world, establish long broken contacts and restore Mexico to her place in the sun, so richly deserved by her wealth of natural resources.

For this purpose they will inaugurate on October 30 the Feria Internacional (International Fair). And during November, probably the most ideal month in a climate where all days are ideal, it will be in full swing. Trains and steamship lines will offer materially reduced rates, as will the hotels. And the government will entertain as only the government can.

To Show New Mexico.

The idea, of course, is to show the world the new Mexico, with all of its picturesque, colorful and romantic background; but a modern industrial Mexico striving to take her place as an industrial nation, one to take an active part in the exchange of the world's goods.

The United States, France, Germany, Spain, Italy, Brazil, Guatemala, The Argentine, Austria, Switzerland, Japan, Cista Rica and a number of other nations will send delegates, many of them special trains and steamships. Mexico itself will gather from all parts of the republic a rare collection of native handiwork and products, something that probably has never before been seen, for many of the States are quite remote, seldom visited by the tourist or business man and very little is known of their resources.

Ignacio Soto, one of the younger and most progressive Mexicans, is executive president and director. He has just returned from the United States and is confident the largest travel to Mexico during the fair will be from there.

"This exposition should mark the turning point in Mexico's financial condition," said Mr. Soto. "While we expect and welcome visitors from all nations we particularly expect to make United States visitors happy. We want all of our old friends there to come here and see for themselves. We are their neighbor and we should have the closest of trade relations. We would like to re-establish the contracts there, broken by the revolutionary period.

Bank Open A Month.

"This is the opportune moment. The Banco Unico will have been functioning one month when the exposition opens. It will put into circulation upwards of 100,000,000 pesos, quite a sum in a country where the revenue for a year averages about 350,000,000.

"The merchants here will be in a position to buy. Their stocks are woefully depleted and they will buy liberally. Business men may bring samples with them, or goods ready for delivery. The railroads will transport this freight at one-half the regular rate and there will be no duty charged except on such articles as are sold.

"The industrial manager desirous of expanding trade in this direction, of competing with the industries of other nations, could not do better than to combine business with pleasure; to see the country for himself, to introduce his product and to meet and gauge the men with whom he will deal in the future.

Save The Surface.

"Is it true that statistics show that women live to be older than men?"

"They ought to. Paint's a great preservative, you know."

The Guard.

Mrs. Mack: "How do you control your husband while you are away?"

Mrs. Stone: "I leave the baby with him."

Darrow Believes a Person Should Get a Divorce Just for the Asking

By CLARK B. KELSEY.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Sept. 8.—If you want a divorce you should be able to get it for the asking, believes Clarence Darrow.

"Mere desire for a decree should be sufficient ground for divorce" said the famous criminal lawyer in a talk here on marriage and divorce.

"The law should allow more ground for divorce. Incompatability is too hard to define and harder still to prove in court, but it is the greatest cause of unhappiness in all married life. No court can pry into life and see the intimate causes of infelicity. But any of these causes should be a cause for divorce."

Darrow contends that marriage is not a failure and says that "free love is no love at all."

It is merely animal lust, he holds, and he heartily opposes the new Volonor theory, which he terms hopelessly impracticable.

The Volonor theory—the idea of Glenn B. Winship, sociologist—is that of a colony created in the South Sea Island where marriage shall have no place. Women are to select their mates by mutual laws of selection. Under the radical idea all men would be taxed fifty per cent of their incomes for the maintenance of women and children.

The Volonor idea does not advocate free love. One man is to take one woman only—and go through no formal ceremony. But if there is dissatisfaction between couples, they can separate and look for other mates.

"Abolish marriage and you abolish the home—the foundation upon which civilization was built," continued Darrow. "Volonese sex alliances can not take the place of marriage."

"But divorce eliminates unhappy marriages. It means the survival of the fittest. Thousands of divorces yearly prove that there are thousands of unhappy marriages. But we all know that divorces represent only a small per cent of unhappy marriages. Beauty and sex appeal have led innumerable persons to marriages of folly. The handsome bridegroom may turn out to be a rascal. The madonna faced bride may prove a nagging scold.

"Love grows cold and the dream changes to a nightmare.

"Why should these unfortunates be chained together? After they have aimed at happiness and miss it, they have committed no crime and deserve no punishment. They have erred and are entitled to another chance. The error of a moment should not be allowed to develop into a lifetime of tragedy. Law is not based on the theory of making people unhappy.

"Our divorce laws should take this into consideration."

Change In Route Is Proposed For Savannah Highway

Right-of-Way East of Ashland Avenue In St. Joseph Offered By Property Owners.

(St. Joseph Gazette)

A new right of way east of Ashland avenue, extending south across Frederick boulevard, over which the St. Joseph-Savannah paved highway may enter the city, is being proposed by property owners in the northeast section of the city.

Isaac T. Curd, and I. A. Miller have presented the proposition to N. R. Sack, division highway engineer, but at present there seems little possibility of the scheme materializing. Mr. Sack informed Mr. Curd and Mr. Miller that the state highway department was interested at present in bringing the state highways to the limits of the cities, and possibly in the future the commission will be concerned in constructing roadways or through-city trails around the outside of the limits.

Mr. Curd is of the opinion that the right of way for the proposed road through the eastern part of the city could be secured at little or no cost, as there are few buildings to be changed and that he and Mr. Miller are willing to donate a right of way through their property. He feels that most of the other property owners would do likewise.

The road would start about a quarter of a mile east of Ashland avenue and cross Frederick boulevard near the Wyeth property, continuing on south connecting with Noyes boulevard somewhere south of Frederick boulevard.

The St. Joseph-Savannah road will now come straight south at a point about a mile east of the Country Club entrance and connect at right angles with the Karnes road and then east to Rochester road and then southwest to Ashland.

Mr. Curd is of the opinion that Ashland avenue bears considerably more than its share of the traffic at present and that it would be a good idea to relieve it to some extent.

However, the proposition proposed will rest for the time being, Mr. Curd thinks, and will be presented to the state highway commission at some future date.

Wilbur Heekin left today for Conception College where he will attend school this term.

League Opens Its Sessions Looking To World Peace

Sixth Assembly of Nations Begun With Air of Confidence.

Geneva, Sept. 8.—With a hopeful start made in running the supreme problem of European security, the sixth assembly of the League of Nations took up its work yesterday in an atmosphere of confidence that world peace can be placed on a solid foundation.

This spirit of optimism dominated the discourses delivered by Paul Painleve, premier of France, who called the assembly to order, and by Senator Raoul Bandurand of Canada, whom the assembly elected its president. The same spirit seemed to radiate both inside and outside the assembly hall as statesmen from 50 lands established their first contact of the situation to review the world's affairs.

Arms Cut Made Clear.

M. Painleve made one thing clear at the start. This was that when satisfactory security has been achieved by the negotiations between the allies and Germany and other desirable regional guarantee pacts have been erected, the council of the League of Nations should invite the powers to a conference looking toward the reduction of armaments. Incidentally, he emphasized, co-operation for the maintenance of peace must have its root in the League of Nations.

M. Painleve characterized the negotiations with Germany as an effort to bring about agreements or arbitration treaties, in conformity with the covenant of the league, for the maintenance of peace. He explained that the result of the negotiations, if they succeeded, will be to bind certain nations which are members of the league, by obligations similar to those provided for in the Geneva peace control.

The protocol, M. Painleve said, has failed of ratification chiefly because of the refusal of some powers, including England, to accept the system of penalties against an aggressor state therein provided. He boldly suggested a way out of this difficulty concerning the protocol by seeking the creation of a modified protocol which could immediately bind the countries of the world by this same universal formula, but includes a series of region pacts between states which are perhaps prone to conflicts, leaving all other members of the league bound by the general obligations of the covenant.

Painting a word picture of the United States of sixty years ago, when rent by a terrible civil war, M. Painleve declared that Europe could learn a lesson from the way the United States had found itself and solved its terrific problems. He received an outburst of wild applause when he declared that the possibilities of lasting peace are not less strong in Europe than they were in 1867 on the American continent.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I have felt as if something were falling out all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Trade among Friends

NO matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

Bank Your Bountiful Harvest

What a joy, what a blessing is harvest time to the average farmer, when crops are bountiful and prices high enough to realize a tidy sum for the season's work!

It is after such a successful harvest that the farmer takes his surplus, stores it for future use and protects himself against any threatened famine of the future.

And so should it be with the layman, who, when he or she is earning plentifully, places aside what is not needed for current expenses and puts it in a Savings Account.

While enjoying your bountiful harvest set aside a stipulated sum each pay-day, bring it to this Bank for safe-keeping and let it accumulate interest.

CITY TAXES TO BE HIGHER

PART OF THE TAXES ALREADY RUN BY CITY CLERK.

TAX LEVY IS HIGHER

Merchants' Taxes Not Figured As Adjustments Are To Be Made By Board of Appeals.

City taxes this year will run a little higher than in 1924 if the total tax figures of real and personal property and bank tax can be taken as an indication. Excluding the merchants' tax, which have not been run by the County Clerk, Mrs. Merle C. Smith, her figures show that the taxes charged on the books against personal property, real estate and banks amount to $32,738.44, as compared to $31,558.17 last year. This is on a valuation of $5,115,380.

The real estate in the city this year is valued at $3,857,440 on which a tax of $24,687.62 is charged. A personal property tax of $5,243.40 has been charged on a valuation of $819,280; and a tax of $2,807.42 is charged on banks' valuation assessed at $438,660.

Last year the total valuation was $5,389,795 and the total tax charged on the books to be collected amounted to $32,877.75. The merchants' tax was fixed at $1,319.58 on a valuation of $216,325.

The merchants' valuation in the city runs about the same from year to year, showing a very slight variation. It can not be ascertained this year, however, until the merchants' board of appeals meets at the courthouse the fourth Monday in the month for final adjustment. This year the tax will be slightly higher as the levy set by the city council for the 1925 taxes is higher, 6.4 mill levy as compared to 6.1 mill levy last year.

To get an approximate figure on what the taxes for the city this year will be, the merchants' tax for last year added to the total already run for this year on the banks, personal and real estate, gives a total of $34,058.02, as compared to the tax charged on the tax books last year which was $32,877.75.

Adding the last year's merchants' valuation of $216,325 to the total figures obtained so far this year, the grand total valuation is $5,332,705, slightly less than the total valuation for 1924.

Taxes will become due November 1 and can be paid at the City Hall.

Vice-President Dawes Answers His Critics

Portland, Ore., Sept. 8.—Renewing his attack on rules of the United States senate, Vice-president Dawes, in an address here last night, quoted records to disprove an argument that more laws would be enacted if the right of unlimited debate were taken from the senate.

"It stands to reason," said Mr. Dawes, "that any body which, for the privilege of acting as a unit, must make concessions to its individual members, will enact more legislation—other things being equal—than a body that does not operate under that handicap. The facts are that in the last five sessions of congress the senate, with ninety-six members, has passed 182 more bills and resolutions than the house of representatives with 435 members."

Declaring that defeat is impossible in the fight he is waging, the vice-president asserted. "There is nothing more majestic than the march of a truth among the ranks of the American people. Because it is right, it can't lose. For the time, one presenting the truth may seem defeated. Then he rises, stronger by every defeat. Everything, anything, happens when an issue is once in the minds of the American people.

"Don't any of you feel sorry for me when you read I am getting beat. It is not me. It is my proposition. It has been fought for by many of the best men in the senate, from the days of Henry Clay to the day of Oscar Underwood."

NULL RENAMED AS SECRETARY

PICKERING MAN IS OFFICER OF CARRIERS ASSOCIATION.

GRAVES CHOSEN V.-P.

Burlington Junction Man To Represent County In District Organization—Savannah Carrier, President.

O. G. Null, mail carrier at Pickering, was yesterday elected to succeed himself as secretary of the district rural mail carriers association, which met in the federal courtroom of the post-office building at St. Joseph for the semi-annual meeting. Mr. Null has been an officer of the association for ten years.

M. S. Graves of Burlington Junction was elected as vice-president from this County. Other vice-presidents elected were George Crawford, Westboro, Atchison County; Joseph Miller, DeKalb, Buchanan County; George Schulte, Oregon, Holt County. B. A. Bonewitz of Savannah was elected president of the association to succeed A. J. Lee, retiring president.

The next meeting of the rural mail carriers association of this district will be held in St. Joseph on February 22, 1926. During the afternoon session yesterday Mr. Null gave a verbal report of the state convention which was held at Independence last July.

Congressman Charles L. Faust of the Fourth Congressional district, one of the speakers at the meeting, complimented the mail carriers for their work, saying that no complaints had been registered against them this year.

Accident health insurance to apply after the government sick leave has been used, was favored by the mail carriers. Thirty attended the meeting. Among other matters recommended in the resolutions passed was that civil service employes should be counseled in regard to changes made in the retirement law, in consideration of the fact that they are paying their annuities. The mail carriers in the resolution pledged their support to the state organization and its officers the coming year and expressed the desire to make Missouri 100 per cent, or that every mail carrier should become a member of the association.

Besides Mr. Null, others who attended the morning session of the rural mail carriers from this county, were Ira B. Newlon, Clearmont; Clyde Adcock, John H. McCann and Cecil E. Lawson, Ravenwood.

THERE IS DANGER IN SILO

Gas Liberated From Freshly Cut Ensilage Is Poisonous.

Because of the danger often encountered in filling silos, the health specialists of the Extension Service at the Missouri College of Agriculture, urge press and public to give wide circulation to the following facts from the health magazine, Hygiea:

"Every year agricultural journals and the public press record deaths from asphyxiation of workmen engaged in filling silos. In spite of repeated warnings, the general public does not seem to be aware of the potential dangers to life in this occupation. * * * *

"Numerous studies on ensilage have shown that the green fodder on being placed in the silo immediately begins to undergo changes opposite to normal plant metabolism; i. e., the oxygen of the surrounding air is consumed and carbon dioxide gas liberated. In some cases the oxygen is almost entirely consumed. The carbon dioxide surrounding the particles of ensilage is supposed to be the principal preservative of the green fodder. Because of the high specific gravity of carbon dioxide, it tends to remain at the surface of the ensilage and for a few feet above.

"Records show that most of the silo accidents occur in the morning, apparently after fermentation has taken place during the night or over Sunday. On entering a partially filled silo in the morning, therefore, the workmen may be engulfed in an invisible lake of carbon dioxide gas. The danger, of course, is greater if the worker lies or sits on the surface below before the filling operation begins.

"To prevent accidents, if the silo is partly filled with fresh fodder, the blower should always be started for a few minutes before the workers enter. Information concerning the simple rules for preventing accidents should be more widely disseminated among farmers and dairymen.

WRAY SOUNDS FED. KEYNOTE

BELIEVES FARMERS REALIZE MO. F. B. F. BENEFITS.

STATE MEET SUCCESS

Farm Bureau Federation Is Strongly In Favor of Co-Operating Marketing, Wray Explains.

Sensing the fact that the farmers of the state are more and more realizing the value of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, Ernest Wray, who lives five miles northeast of Maryville, president of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau and vice-president of the state federation, returned from the state meeting at Fulton this last weekend convinced that the federation is the star to which the wide-awake farmers of the state will eventually hitch their wagons.

Mr. Wray said today that the annual meeting just held was the biggest and greatest in all aspects that the federation has ever had. He was one of the four delegates from county who attended the convention.

Mr. Wray said today that he firmly believes the Farm Bureau Federation in this state is the organization which can aid the inhabitants of the rural districts in more ways than one, and that the farmers are beginning to see how the Federation is trying to help them, and has already accomplished much, along the channels of legislation, transportation, better farming methods and co-operative marketing.

Mr. Wray went on to say that the opinion has been spread among many that the Farm Bureau is opposed to co-operative marketing. He said that the exact opposite is the truth, and went on to explain this by mentioning the fact the Federation has fourteen commission houses doing business in fourteen different cities of the United States, through which the farmers are able to market their produce, grain and livestock.

However, he said, the federation is opposed to establishing stores throughout the state, but said that the federation recommends that the farmers co-operate with the federation in securing such articles as feed, fertilizers, coal and such staple articles which are a necessity on farm work.

As to the value of the federation in the state in aiding the farmers in raising better and bigger crops and a better grade of cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry, Mr. Wray said that it could not be estimated in dollars and cents. He cited the Nodaway County Farm Bureau Federation which works in co-operation with the state extension service and the United States Department of Agriculture, by employing a county agent. There are many farmers in the county who are taking advantage of such services as the county agent and the members of the extension service can offer and are being benefitted each year in the projects that they are carrying on and in following the systems recommended by these experts.

Instead of the dues being $5 a year, as is the case now, the dues could be easily reduced to $3 or less if every farmer in the county became a member of the county farm bureau, and the individual farmer would not only receive the benefit, but the community in general would realize the results.

Mr. Wray stated that the county farm bureau is now mapping out a campaign to enlarge the membership of the bureau and full particulars would be announced in the near future.

Unification to Come Before Methodists

Annual Missouri Conference of Southern Church Opens This Morning.

Chillicothe, Mo., Sept. 8.—Delegates are arriving from different parts of Missouri to attend the Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which opens here today. The conference proper was opened with Bishop W. F. McMurry of Fayette in the chair. The delegates seem to be enthusiastic over the plan of the unification of the two branches of Methodism, which will be voted on at this conference, but none of them are very pessimistic over the outlook for the final success of the plan, as a large majority of the delegates from the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, where this church is very strong, are in opposition to the unification plan.

The conference here will probably vote on the plan the latter part of this week and finally close Monday, when Bishop McMurry will go to Warrensburg to preside at the Southwestern Missouri Conference of this church. He will also preside at the St. Louis Conference at Bonne Terre on October 7. The Bishop is very favorable to the plan of unification, but he is allowing the churchmen to fight it out without official pressure from the presiding Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morris of Kansas City are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Malvern, and her sister, Mrs. O. L. Martin, of Quitman.

Your Health

SUBACIDITY OF STOMACH

NO ORGAN of the body gives people more trouble and distress than the stomach, though it also gives much pleasure and satisfaction.

Its troubles range from the simplest dyspepsia to the serious ulcer and the fatal cancer.

Especially after maturity, when people are constantly indulging in all sorts of improprieties in eating and drinking, is the stomach prone to be rebellious and refuse to submit to maltreatment.

The stomach is at work so many hours out of the twenty-four it is not strange it should give out and show its exhaustion by disease.

All kinds of food pass into this organ, but it digests only the proteids or albumenoids.

The mucus secreted by its glands gives moisture and slipperiness to the food mass, and the hydrochloric acid and pepsin digest or liquefy it.

These substances may be in excess, they may be deficient, and in rare cases may be absent.

Subacidity, or hypochylia, means there is not enough of them for digestive purposes, just as in superacidity there is too much.

Subacidity is less common than superacidity, occurs oftenest with those who have some kind of nervous disorder and is unattended by inflammation or gastritis.

It comes and goes and alternates with periods when there is too much hydrochloric acid.

This fact is determined by examination of the contents of the stomach removed when digestion is at its height.

Connected with subacidity is a condition known as "atony" of the stomach; which means that the muscular coat is more or less paralyzed and does not contract and churn its contents about, which is an essential part of the digestive process.

The conditions causing subacidity may continue until at length no acid at all is secreted, which would mean that some of the tubules which produce gastric juice have atrophied or withered and will be of no further use.

If there is only moderate subacidity there may be no urgent symptoms of any kind; but if the condition persists anemia may develop, with possible termination in cancer; hence the matter must not be neglected.

The ordinary symptoms are discomfort and a sense of weight and fullness when digestion is going on, want of appetite, belching, headache, dizziness and constipation.

In treating it the general condition should be improved by simple food, a glass of hot water before meals, sleep in abundance, outdoor exercise, sunshine and freedom from worry if possible.

Should the disease become very troublesome the contents of the stomach should be examined and a course of treatment instituted by one who is familiar with stomach diseases.

POLLY PARROT'S DILEMMA

"GOOD morning, good morning, good morning!" screamed Polly Parrot at the top of her voice. "It's time to get up; it's time to get up!"

"Oh, dear!" yawned Cheerups sleepily, as he stretched himself and opened one eye. "What was that noise? I didn't tell the Quixies to call me. Oh, here's a visitor already. How do you do, Polly Parrot! I have seen some of your cousins in the United States and so I recognized you right away. I hope you'll excuse me for not being dressed. I'll just slip on this bath-robe," and Cheerups wrapped a large fern snugly about him.

"Of Course I'll Excuse You," Cried Polly, Flapping Her Wings.

"Of course I'll excuse you," cried Polly, flapping her gray wings and snapping her beak, "but why people are such lazybones is more than I can tell. And that, by the way, is what I have come to see you about—lazybones and how to cure them, I mean. But as you are one yourself, I doubt if you can tell me. You wouldn't go to the bat to find out how to see, now, would you?"

"Do calm down, Polly, and tell me what is the matter," said Cheerups in a gentle voice. "At least you can give me the chance to be of some help."

"Well," began Polly more pleasantly, "Mr. Parrot and I build our nest—no, we don't either; we don't really build a nest at all, we just find some nice cozy hole in the trunk of a tree and there I lay my eggs. Then the trouble begins! For I do get so tired sitting on those eggs day and night, and Mr. Parrot never offers to help me out. It really seems to me that he ought to do his share."

"Have you asked him nicely to do so, Polly?" inquired Cheerups.

"Well, I've scolded a lot about it," replied Polly sheepishly.

"That won't do," said Cheerups, with as nearly a severe look as his merry little eyes would hold. "That won't do at all. When you go home, just ask Mr. Parrot as pleasantly as you can if he won't sit on the eggs part of the time. Mention that 'turn about is fair play,' and say that you will fly off and find a juicy worm or a bit of fruit for his supper while he is sitting on the nest. And, mind you, here's another good idea which may come in handy sometime. If you ever think that danger is coming too near your precious eggs, call the rest of the Parrot flock to come and help you drive off the enemy. Mother Nature tells me that they will gladly do it.

"But the very best way, as you will find,
To get your wish, is just be kind."

Poor Polly was so ashamed of herself that she hung her head for a minute, then she screamed delightedly, "I'll try it, Mr. Cheerups, I'll try being kind and pleasant; and I won't forget what you say about asking the other Parrots to help me, either. Thank you very much! Now I must go home, for no telling where Father Parrot is and those eggs may be getting cold."

"Won't you stop for a bit of breadfruit with us?" called Cheerups.

"No, thanks, too much of a hurry," chattered Polly and was gone.

From that day to this the rule in the Parrot family has been share and share alike.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

ELLEN

VERY few people know that Ellen may be spelled Ellin and still remain the same charming name which signifies a "light" or "radiance." In these days of affection when Ediths turn into Edythes overnight and Alice becomes Alys, it is interesting to discover that even the somewhat simple name of Ellen is capable of adaptation.

The name comes from the Greek root Ele which was first used in the name of the moon deity Selene. From Ele again sprang the most noted of all Greek names, Helene, from which Ellen is directly derived. The latter name made its first appearance in Scotland where the pronunciation caused the H to be dropped from Helene.

In Wales, Ellin was adopted in place of Helene. It came into being through the Eglwys Ilan, the church of Helen, which was greatly revered by the insular Kelts. Ellen has achieved almost as great popularity in this country as her predecessor Helen. Her vogue was greatly increased by Sir Walter Scott's charming poem, "The Lady of the Lake." Many English celebrities have borne the name, among them the greatest of English actresses, Ellen Terry.

Amber is Ellen's talismanic stone. The ancients believed that it would protect its wearers from contagion and would guard them from danger when traveling. Thursday is Ellen's lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

CROWS AND THE CROPS

AS A rule crows are birds of evil omen. But there is one condition under which a farmer may see a crow to his advantage. If a solitary crow is seen walking about a field just before it is put to seed then it is an omen of good crops. But should the lone crow perch on a limb overlooking the field as the seed is being put in the corn will run to stalk and there will be precious little grain. And if the crow caws the crop will be a total failure.

This is because the crow—or the raven, which is practically the same thing—is an attendant bird of Odin, the chief of the Norse gods, and Odin had a direct interest in agriculture, as many stories of him attest. It was formerly the custom in the Scandinavian peninsula to leave standing in the field after the harvest a sheaf of wheat "For Odin's horses," and the god is represented as once having protected in person a field of rye near Trolenborg in which rye grew with astounding fruitfulness. Now when the bird of Odin walks quietly over a field, inspecting it, he is acting for his master—giving it Odin's protection. This is mythology, a survival of the Norse religion. But in the perching of the crow upon a limb overlooking the field we see the introduction of magic. He is perched on a limb—a stalk, as it were—and so, by sympathetic magic, the future crops will run to stalk in imitation of the limb upon which the crow perches. The ancients not infrequently mixed up magic with their mythology.

Reed Attacks Tax Policy of Mellon

President Coolidge Is Also Target In Speech By Missouri Senator At St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—President Coolidge and his economy program came in for a bitter denunciation in an address by Senator James Reed of Missouri before 2,500 Democrats in a rally on the David Israel farm near here late Monday.

"He tells you that he wants economy," the Senator said, "yet three years ago Coolidge recommended 100 million dollars more than Congress was willing to appropriate and again two years ago and last year he recommended like sums over the apropriation bill that Congress wanted to make."

Reed also attacked the plan for reduction of taxes which Secretary Mellon "tried to put over." He declared that Mellon would have greatly reduced the taxes of the multi-millionaires but those of the ordinary individual would remain almost unchanged.

"The fact that the last river and harbor bill did not carry a sufficient appropriation to speedily drive to completion the improvements of the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, and other streams, can be laid directly to the door of the President, himself.

"A single word of encouragement—nay, less than that—a simple policy of hands-off, would have resulted in an adequate appropriation. The majority of congress undoubtedly wanted to pass a bill directing that the projects already approved should be completed within a period of five years. That provision was killed at the direct command of Calvin Coolidge."

Senator Reed said the canal must be brought to the doorway of the middle West through improvement of the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers. He said the saving of a few cents a ton on freight determined the location of great factories and that in this connection the entire territory around the three rivers would benefit.

Senator Reed also launched an attack on Governor Baker.

The senior Missouri senator pictured the governor as a reformer and asserted that he was blind to the conditions created by the activity of the St. Louis police and making no attempt to reform them.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Today's trading on the Chicago Board of Trade was featured by a two-way close. Wheat made sharp gains while corn and oats dropped off fractionally. Wheat was unsettled most of the day. Trade was influenced by free movement of spring wheat.

The doubtful position of corn on the eve of publication of the government review caused a wariness among traders.

Oats were quiet and dropped off fractionally with corn.

Provisions droped off on commission house realizing.

CATTLE STRONGER; TONE IMPROVED; HOGS LOWER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Sept. 7, 1925—Some of the better classes of cattle were 15 to 25 cents higher today and most classes sold more readily than last week. The general tone in the trade was improved. Receipts were below expectations, and the cooler weather may give pasturemen a chance to hold for a general rain. Hogs broke sharply, the largest loss being in the light weight classes that have been selling at a big premium over other weights. Sheep and lambs were quoted weaker to 25 cents lower.

Today's Receipts

Receipts today were 21,000 cattle, 8,500 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, compared with 28,000 cattle, 7,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep a week ago, and 49,475 cattle 5,865 hogs, and 17,150 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

Trade in fat cattle today showed a better tone than late last week and in a few cases sales were considered higher. Receipts were materially less than expected, and with most trade activities closed for the Labor Day holiday the light runs were in keeping with the best interests of the market. Some prime 979 pound yearlings brought $14.75. These are the first full fed steers offered in two weeks. Short fed steers sold at $9.00 to $12.50; wintered steers $8.50 to $9.75, and grass fat steers, $4.50 to $8.50, mostly $6.00 to $7.50. Cows and heifers were quoted steady to 15 cents higher and in active demand. Canners and cutters continued to sell readily. Most killing cows sold at $3.75 to $5.00; canners and cutters $2.85 to $3.50 and heifers, $4.50 to $7. Veal calves were steady, top $11.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

Cooler weather, showers in some sections and more expected tended to stimulate the demand for stockers and feeders. Prices ruled stronger. A general rain would increase the demand materially.

Hogs.

Hog prices were 15 to 35 cents lower. Light lights broke 25 to 35 cents, and medium and heavy weights were off 15 to 25 cents. At the decline the light weights still maintained a big premium over other weights, but the margin narrowed some. Choice light lights sold at $12.50 to $12.90; light weights $12.35 to $12.75; medium weights $12.00 to $12.40, and heavies $11.50 to $12.25. Packing sows sold at $10.25 to $10.50 and stock hogs and pigs $12.00 to $12.75.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep and lamb prices were quoted weak to 25 cents lower. At the decline trade was active and a good clearance was reported. Western lambs sold at $15.00 to $15.40; native lambs $14.00 to $14.50; feeding lambs $14.00 to $15.00. Few sheep were offered.

Horses and Mules

The fall movement of horses and mules is getting under way and demand is increasing in keeping with the supply. Prices were firm.

32 SIGN FOR H. S. FOOTBALL

NINE LETTERMEN, INCLUDING LAVELLE SMITH, REPORT.

AN EXPERIENCED LINE

Others Expected to Sign Up for A Moleskin Before Week Is Over—9 Lost By Graduation.

Although the mercury was hanging around the 90 degree mark and the atmosphere sultry, yet it was not hot enough to dampen the spirits of Captain Charles ("Red") Kissinger with eight other letter men and twenty-three other aspirants for the 1925 Spoofhound eleven of the Maryville High School who answered the first call for football, that was issued yesterday by William H. Herbert, athletic director and football coach at the Spoofhound institution. Included among these thirty-two men were many who played on the second string last year but lacked just a few quarters of play to earn a letter and who were termed last year by former coach, Harold G. Ebert, as his "pony team."

After the squad, just lacking one of making three full elevens, had signed up with Coach Herbert in the gymnasium for the foot ball season, a short and light work out was held on the high school campus. The Spoofhounds begin their regular practice at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the College Field.

The letter men from last year's team who are intending to make a bid for the 1925 eleven are Captain Kissinger, half back; Porterfield Cockayne, full back; Maurice ("Buck") Strong; quarter back; Paul ("Fox" Kissinger, guard; Carl ("Pat") King, half back; Eugene Howard, guard; Richard Holt, end; and Curtis New, guard. The hopes for a fast and hard hitting backfield were sent soaring yesterday when Lavelle Smith, a letterman in the days that Captain Ogden & Co., two seasons ago made a sensational year in the annuals of High School football, reported to Coach Herbert yesterday that he would again fight for the Black and Green colors.

Other footballers who signed up yesterday are:

Coach Herbert outlined a few principles that he wanted the Spoofhounds to adhere to in keeping up with the athletic requirments, pointing out that every man "to be a good athlete should be punctual."

There are yet several men who have not reported to the coach for this year's gridiron season, James Helpley, who played guard last year, will be welcomed when he returns, Karl Adams, a guard; William Miller, another guard; Lewis Liston, a quarterback; Jack Sorrie, a tackle.

Although the team was hit hard by graduation Coach Herbert has an experienced line to start the year with and he has a number of men who substituted in the backfield last year. The gridders lost by graduation from the 1924 team are Westfall, tackle, Captain Epperson, tackle, and Harold Miller, half back, who are now practicing in Bearcat uniforms; Isaac Miller, half back; Rocfofson and Wright, centers; Felix Brown, end; Hepburn, tackle; Allen, half back; and Lowry end. Robert Godsey, who played a wing position last year has reported he will not return to the squad this year, and Dick Holt, another end, who signed up for the 1925 season, is nursing an injured arm, and will not be able to get into any stiff practice for awhile.

It is understood that there are others enrolled in the High School who are still contemplating signing up for a suit of moleskins, which, with those who are eager to get started and those from the last year squad who have not reported to Coach Herbert, will swell the total number over the forty mark.

Track Ace

Germany seems to be coming to the front in athletics. Her latest star in track and field activities is "Dutch" Corts. He's a sprinter and recently defeated Houben in the 100-yard and 100-meter dashes. It will be recalled that it was Houben who took Charley Paddock's measure across the pond a short time ago.

Make H. S. Football Schedule Saturday

L. E. Ziegler and William H. Herbert Will Represent Maryville at Association Meeting.

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent Maryville Public Schools, and William H. Herbert, High School coach, will go to St. Joseph Saturday to attend a meeting of coaches of the Northwest Missouri High School Association that will be held at the hotel Robidoux.

The board of control will meet in the morning and there will be a conference of coaches in the afternoon. At this time the schedule for the 1925 football season of the Maryville High School will be arranged. The local High School has a few games tentatively scheduled but the complete schedule will be made at this time.

A branch of the British Legion owns a donkey and cart, which are loaned to members for three months at a time.

Points To Fertility Of Holt County Soil

One Acre Patch Pays 6 Per Cent On $1,100 In Addition To Living Expenses of Couple.

(From the Holt County (Mo.) Sentinel)

This may seem a broad assertion to our readers, but we want you to read what was and has been produced from one acre of ground, right here in the little town of Oregon, Holt County, Mo.; then form your own conclusions in regard to the productiveness of Holt County soil.

Lee Greene of Oregon has a nice little modern home, with one acre of ground. So far this year his wife has canned and preserved the following from this little patch of ground:

100 quarts of beans.
90 quarts of corn.
211 quarts of peaches.
48 pints of strawberry preserves.
60 pints of pimento peppers.
60 pints of raspberries.
75 quarts of blackberries, pears, plums.
20 gallons of mango pickles.
6 quarts of huckleberries.
50 quarts of tomatoes.
14 quarts of watermelon and yellow tomato preserves.
50 gallons of cherries.
9 gallons of gooseberries.
9 gallons of currants.
150 pounds of grapes; 1 vine has produced 100 pounds of grapes yearly for 4 years.
10 bushels of sweet potatoes.
12 bushels of Irish potatoes.
5 bushels of plums.
2 bushels of black-eyed peas.
½ bushel butter beans.
20 bushels apples; Grimes' Golden, Jonathans, Stark's Delicious.
5 bushels of Bermuda onions.
Oodles of squashes.
150 pounds of cabbage.
½ bushel of hot peppers.
3 bushels of popcorn.
1 bushel each of carrots and parsnips.

Besides what has been put up, sold and given away, Mr. Greene says a fourth of the products is still left. There are forty-eight varieties of fruit on the place. For five years he has sold an average of $67 net each year, besides what was used by themselves and given away.

Mrs. Greene attends to the canning and preserving herself, and besides has one of the finest flower gardens in the city, and for proof asks you to call and see. Lee says this little one acre of ground pays 6 per cent on $1,100 besides their living. He says if anyone doubts this statement to call and see him, and he can demonstrate to them beyond a doubt that only facts have been stated. The citizens of Holt county, Mo., do not appreciate the wonderful fertility of our soil—in fact, do not realize what a wonderful productive soil we have. Again we repeat, "Why Florida or any other country?"

WELL, HERE WE ARE.

(William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.)

Dr. Edward Chiero, assistant professor of Assyriology in the University of Pennsylvania, has just translated some tablets written 2000 B. C. by members of the race that built the tower of Babel. These tablets, the only books they had in those distant days, were "dug up from a long-buried school library in Nippur on the Euphrates." They deal with accounts of creation, a question which apparently proved as disturbing then as now. There were several theories even before "Moses smote the wafer." This story antedates Moses and Genesis by 5 hundred years and it forecasts modern evolution thus:

"The people walked with their four limbs upon the ground. They ate grass with their mouths like sheep. They drank water from the ditches.

Well, all right; every man is entitled to his own guess. The point is here we are; no matter how we got here. Man is on the earth. He can't jump off. The best he can do is to be as decent as he can, and trust in God for the next world. Probably it will be better than this one, and whether we were made of mud or monkeys we are in for it and should make the best of it.

How It Started.

He—Remember when we first met in the revolving door at the postoffice?

She—But that wasn't the first time we met.

He—Well, that's when we started going 'round together, wasn't it?

Paris Approves Luminous Bags

BY ALICE LANGELIER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Sept. 8.—Luminous bags are the newest fancies in accessories that are being shown at the Pavilion d'Elegance in the Exposition of Decorative Arts now going on in the French capital.

Like the luminous watchcase or the luminous umbrella handle, the luminous handbag already seems a necessity, and one wonders how life was ever possible without it. It shines like a little glow worm when resting on a shelf or in a dark drawer and can be found without difficulty in hasty moments. It is of course the embroidery that gives the luminous quality. A lovely one in black broche silk comes embroidered in white crystal beads and another is in lovely blue and green tones.

Another sort of bag that originality is doing much to further is that of metallic beads. Very new ones are being made in simpler designs. Some of bronze are quaint with a silhouette border of mice, rabbits or cats. There are varieties of designs in color-combinations subdued enough for sports.

Elongated bags that are drawn together at the top by a chain are in favor. This type permits of a more complicated design and finer workmanship.

LOOKING AHEAD AT 27 HAS ITS ADVANTAGES, THINKS JOHN MONK SAUNDERS

In his confession of a career-hound, John Monk Saunders, noted short-story writer and editor, tells in this week's Liberty his recipe for success. His contribution, entitled "Looking Ahead at 27," says:

"In every case, when you ask a successful man to give you the secret of his success, he will answer:

"'Hard work!'

"But that doesn't quite explain it. I have invariably found present, where a man has made a notable success of his life, four qualities:

"(1) Intelligence.

"(2) Well-directed industry.

"(3) Health.

"(4) Luck.

"You must, of course, mention No. 4 only in a whisper.

"Equipped as I am with this special knowledge of the essentials of success I have laid down my rules of life, the guiding one which I hereby record. It is a rule which I will explain how I got from where I am today to where I will be at fifty. Here it is:

"'Never sit down on the third rail.'

"At fifty I shall go up to the attic and I shall search out this manuscript from an old trunk and I shall read it again. And then I shall laugh—or I shall weep."

Mrs. Wilson Pleased By League Assembly

Geneva, Sept. 8.—"It is magnificent," Mrs. Woodrow Wilson said to personal friends tonight after spending the entire day closely following the opening deliberations of the league of nations assembly.

She left the league auditorium deeply affected by the day's experience. She was particularly impressed by what Dr. Edward Benes, foreign minister of Czecho-Slovakia, told her of a practical attribute of the league of nations which is not generally known.

"Do you realize," he said to Mrs. Wilson, "that by spending four weeks each year at Geneva I see every foreign minister in Europe? Like other ministers, I am able to treat in this neutral atmosphere many questions existing between us, which are amplified later into important agreements. The league of nations founded by your husband is a great time saver."

Sane to the Last.

(Everybody's.)

"Well," said the dying business man, "you better put in a clause about my employes. To each man who has worked for me twenty years I give and bequeath $50,000.

"But," said the lawyer, "you haven't been in business twenty years."

"I know it, man, but its good advertising."
